

No Changes Made In Election Vote

Unofficial Returns of The News Prove Correct

The Democratic County Executive Committee of Randall county met Saturday and canvassed the returns of the county, making the official returns for the primary election of July 23rd.

The count as published last week in the News was checked, and no errors were found in the total. Members of the Executive Committee appreciated very much the co-operation given The News by election judges in compiling accurate returns from the thirteen voting boxes of the county.

The only race on which a close check was necessary was the Stanfield-Warwick race for State Representative, with Stanfield leading in the unofficial count with 14 votes out of a total of 14,193 votes. The official canvass in the six counties did not change the vote. Mr. Warwick had written Mr. Stanfield last Tuesday congratulating him upon winning the race, and pledging his support as the nominee of the party.

A. M. Smith, county chairman, stated yesterday that owing to the short ballot it is likely that all of precinct No. 1 would vote at the Court House on August 27th, in order to save expenses in holding the election.

Terry Mayben Saves Boy From Drowning at McSpadden Lake

Billie Davis was pulled out of McSpadden's Lake Sunday by Terry Mayben and no doubt saved his life, together with that of Ray Ford Rusk.

Young Rusk was taking Billie across the lake on his back, when he became too fatigued to carry Billie, who could not swim. The boys called for help, and Mr. Mayben jumped in, taking care of Billie, and Ray Ford was able to swim to shore.

Those who witnessed the near tragedy stated that both boys would have drowned had not Mr. Mayben rushed to their aid.

Museum Fund Is Only Lacking $850.82

Sheffy Working to Put $25,000 in Bank For Building

The Panhandle-Plains Historical Society Museum fund now contains $24,149.18, according to a statement made by L. F. Sheffy Tuesday. This means that $850.82 must be added to the fund before the contract for the building can be let and construction work begun on it. The officers of the Society are urging that all persons who have made pledges to this fund pay them at once in order that the erection of the building may become a certainty.

Mr. Sheffy has received several pledges of work and materials to be applied on the building project but it is necessary that $25,000 be deposited in banks before the contract for the building is let.

The construction of this build-

Grover B. Hill Here in Working for Col. Thompson

Grover B. Hill of Amarillo was in the city Thursday lining up friends in the interest of the candidacy of Col. Ernest O. Thompson, member of the State Railroad Commission. Mr. Hill has been with the Dallas headquarters, and will return there this week-end to assume charge during the second campaign.

Mr. Hill states that the principle argument made against Colonel Thompson down state during the first primary was that West Texas would not stay with Thompson. Now that this fallacy has been exposed by the heavy vote of confidence in the former Amarillo mayor, Mr. Hill expects to see Col. Thompson winner in the second primary if his friends will stay in the campaign.

For Congressman at large, place No. 2, indications last week were that the run-off would be between Joseph Weldon Bailey, Jr., and Oscar Holcomb, but more complete returns placed Cyclone Davis ahead of Holcomb.

The returns from 253 counties, with 224 complete, indicates that the largest primary vote in the history of Texas was cast, totaling 940,000. Mrs. Ferguson leads with 387,091; Governor Sterling has 284,604; Tom Hunter has 211,690.

STERLING'S CHANCES

The friends of Governor Sterling are worried, and they have a right to be. Perhaps it is a good thing for the Governor that they are worried, if the result will be that all of them will go to work for him, instead of throwing up their hands and believing that the battle is over. If this should happen, there would be a landslide for Ferguson.

The unprecedented vote of the last primary was a distinct surprise. It was generally believed that the reduction in poll tax payments would favor the Governor. Jim Ferguson studied the poll tax payments for a long while before he announced Mrs. Ferguson as a candidate for Governor. Therefore, the friends of Sterling should have not been deceived. Jim Ferguson is nobody's fool in this game of politics.

Figuring on the percentage basis, Ferguson received 42.5 percent of all votes cast; the other opponents of the Governor received better than 27 per cent, leaving Sterling hardly 30 per cent of the votes cast. To win in the August primary, Ferguson needs to gain only 8 per cent, while the Governor must gain 20 per cent. Under most circumstances this would be called impossible.

The only hopeful thing for Sterling is that two years ago in the first primary he received only 20 per cent of the vote in the first primary, while the Fergusons received 30 per cent. In the second primary, the Governor was able to increase his lead to 55 per cent, while Fergusons fell to 45 per cent.

Comparisons of today with two years ago, however, may be of little or no benefit. People are feeling differently today than they did then, and are voting differently. Whereas conservative candidates were elected two years ago, radicals were favored this year.

The Legislature will be for Ferguson, if the second primary follows the foot-steps of the first primary. Sterling leaders, such as Alfred Petsch, Phil Sanders, Bob Hubbard, R. L. Reader, Mrs. Lee J. Rountree, Mrs. Helen Moore, Mrs. N. R. Strong, Homer DeWolfe, Sam Bryant, Paul Finn, A. M. Housley, Dr. E. P. Shelton, I. J. Burrus, and others were replaced by candidates either directly opposed to the Governor, or who were in favor with the Ferguson crowd.

Proxy government is the only question at stake. If Mrs. Ferguson is elected, it simply means placing in control of this state for two years a man who was impeached from this office, but who will control and dictate every issue in the state's affairs, with all of the powers of governor and without the responsibilities of an oath of office.

Dissatisfaction on the part of the voters with present conditions over which Governor Sterling has absolutely no control may result in the return of the Fergusons to power. While people are clamoring for a change, be it remembered that the Fergusons are asking the voters for a fourth term, while Governor Sterling is serving only his first term. The Governor is not the cause of everyone being broke, as he finds himself in the same shape through the chances of fate, and changing economic conditions. He is making an honest effort to guide the ship of state safely through the prevailing gale, and should be given a chance to prove his ability.

The riot in the bonus army at Washington and calling of troops to drive the ex-service men from Washington is having varied results. In the first place study is being made of what pensions and wars and the results and preparations for future wars is costing the taxpayers. Right now the taxpayer is taking more interest in these things. In the second place, the personnel and leadership of the bonus army is being more closely studied. The American Legion having disapproved of the bonus march, the taxpayers are again making a study of 15,000 who marched on Washington, and as to their responsibility as citizens. The marchers demanded much at many places along the line, but after reaching Washington seemed to have behaved themselves very well until the last minute when free food was exhausted. In the third place, the political aspect is that bonus leaders are demanding the defeat of all in Congress who opposed the immediate payment of the certificates due in 1945, and which was opposed by the leaders of the American Legion. Political spellbinders, who are hoping for future benefits, are responsible for the bonus march, and for the riot in Washington, but nevertheless the damage has been done, and the problem unsettled.

The Amarillo Daily News had an able editorial the other day regarding the defects of the primary, and advocating the return of the convention system, when able men were selected for public office with practically no expense. Those who were faced with the long primary ballot on July 23rd wished that something would happen, although most all voters would rebel against the return of the convention days. Given the vote on scores of offices, even though complaining, the voters seem to like it, and candidates will continue to spend money they cannot afford to spend in running for public office. No doubt able men were selected in most instances under the convention system. No self-respecting citizen enjoys having a bunch of campaign lies turned loose on him, but fortunately for all, most people accept them as such, laugh about them after the election, and proceed to forget all that has been said. The primary system will never be replaced. The people like to use it, if for no other reason than to get even with someone whom they do not like.

President Hoover took a back-handed slap at the farmers of America in vetoing the bill extending aid to the live stock raisers and the farmers. After approving the loans of billions of dollars to the big industries and banks, the President turns a deaf ear to the struggling farmer, who must have help to plant his crops. This Hoover prosperity is doomed to end abruptly in November with the election of Franklin D. Roosevelt, who will try to help the little fellow since the big boys have received all they wish.

The scandal monger follows the method of the pioneers of the Plains by backfiring against prairie fires. The scandal monger, in order to protect himself or herself, starts a bunch of lies on someone else. Before spreading scandal, inquire as to its source, and inevitably you will find this to be true.

Down in Texas they tried to tell the voters that the Panhandle would not stay with Col. Ernest Thompson. Now that this fallacy has been exposed, they are wondering what to do to stop the red headed Colonel. The utilities of the state are lined up against him, as they know that he is going to put up a fight for reduction in rates.

Friends of Lee Satterwhite are deeply gratified at the fine support given him by West Texas people. Opposing one of the biggest combinations of railroad and oil interests in the State, Mr. Satterwhite received a heavy vote in the first primary. He has a real battle ahead of him in the August primary, and will need the full support of his Panhandle friends.

A Little Firewater, in the Shape of "Bill" Cissell, Made the Usually Tractable Cleveland Indians Bolt the Reservation and Go on Pennant Warpath

BY PHILIP MARTIN

ONE can be pardoned for wondering what happened to the Cleveland Indians to change them from a low first division team to a fighting pennant contender. Although several things figured in the transformation not the least important was the sudden change that came over Chalmers W. (Bill) Cissell.

The Indians' second baseman, in this observer's opinion, more than any other individual, was responsible for the improved Tribe. And as I see it, Bill first had to become one of the best ball players in the league to do it.

When the Indians traded Hodapp, an infielder, and Seeds, an outfielder, to the White Sox for Cissell, they felt confident the Sox player would be able to solve at least one of their infield worries. He did, at second base, and by his dash and fire he also worked an improvement in the play of Johnny Burnett, his running mate at shortstop.

Cissell and Burnett, both good hitters, now form one of the best all-around second base combinations in the American League. There are better hitters and steadier fielders, but none are working harder than the Tribe pair.

Cissell came to Cleveland early in the season with a batting average of about .270, and a complete major league average of only .261. He had never hit better than .280, his 1929 average, except in spells.

He has been three months with the Indians. In that time his batting has come up to the .300 circle. His play afield has been brilliant. He has been satisfied with his playing conditions, something he was not in Chicago, and this satisfaction has made a new ball player of him.

MAJOR league ball players tell of many interesting and diversified happenings that led them to the big leagues. In Cissell's case, it was a horseback ride. Here's the story:

"During the 1925 world series while I was on a cavalry hike from Des Moines to Omaha, I made up my mind to become a big league ball player. I was then corporal of my squad in the 14th U. S. Cavalry. 'It rained all during our trip. Did you ever ride a horse cross-country for 30 miles a day, for five days, all in the rain? Well, I bought my dismissal and joined Des Moines in the Western League.'"

Cissell spent 1925 and 1926 with the Des Moines club. He was sold to Portland of the Coast League for $13,000. After two seasons with Portland, he was bought by the White Sox for the unheard of payment of $123,000 in cash and players. Chicago used him at shortstop, then second base, then third and finally short again. And while he showed occasional flashes of form, he never clicked quite the way a $123,000 "beauty" might be expected to perform.

Cissell is 28 and, for an ex-army corporal, unusually quiet. Of course he swaggers a little. But he doesn't talk back. He hasn't any favorite pastimes except hunting, fishing and horses.

"Don't get sold to a big league team for $123,000," is Cissell's advice to kid ball players. "The greatest burden any player ever carried into the majors was mine."

SUSIE'S Musings

According to Shakespeare:
"Men at some time are masters of their fates:
The fault, dear Brutus, is not in our stars,
But in ourselves."

What intangible qualities go into the making of success, be it success in business, in friendship, in realizing an ideal, or in the mere living from day to day! No one has a recipe for the attainment of success. Great must be the man who knows what success is! But those who have gained a degree of fame and fortune are almost unanimous in saying that it was not Luck that did the trick.

The breathless beauty of a summer morning after a shower. Clear blue sky; vivid green trees. It is the cleanliness and the freshness that grasps our hearts, making us wish that we could wash away the sordidness of the world, leaving it clean and fresh as the countryside after a rain.

It is generally conceded that women are more emotional than men. But even so, the woman of today is thinking more earnestly and more deeply on national and international affairs than she has ever thought. She must be thinking, where else is she getting all these opinions that she expresses vehemently and often? Surely not all of them are from friend husband or the boy friend! They cannot flatter themselves to that extent. The modern woman is still emotional, to be sure, but she is converting that emotion into a thinking emotion that is building on the side of right instead of might.

Autumn Styles Will Be Done Up Brown

DARK COLORED FROCKS IN WARM REDDISH OR ORANGE TONES WILL PRE-DOMINATE IN THE FALL FASHION PARADE

BY HARRIET

AUTUMN style forecasts are saying that brown is going to be one of the most important colors for frocks and suits. Browns with a reddish tone will be seen everywhere, and along with them there will be frocks in warm vintage tones and others that lean to orange. In fact, dark colors that hold some sort of a vibrant sparkle in their shadows are going to lead the fashion parade.

That is one reason why rose and blue and all the other cool, delightfully feminine colors are getting in as many dances as they can at summer parties. Dark colors, which are crisp and interesting for fall, aren't as effective when the cooling breeze is the most interesting note of the evening.

Chiffon continues to be a favorite as the summer passes. There is something filmy, fragile, eternally feminine about it that makes it a little more mysterious and enchanting than heavier materials. Flowers, which have been strewing themselves across frocks, either in a gay, flamboyant manner, or with all the demureness of an old-fashioned bouquet, continue to adorn the new chiffons.

Lines are long and straight and simple. The material itself supplies the necessary decorative features.

If you want just one more frock for the summer there is a flowered chiffon which uses a rose-colored design. The decolletage is low, extending to the waistline, where it meets a soft rose velvet girdle. Matching velvet flowers decorate the decolletage.

There is a blue and white print which uses a smaller flower in such a manner that the frock appears to have been sown with flower seeds that all blossomed in regular rows. It, too, is made with simple, flowing lines. There is a blue velvet belt at the high waistline, and a blue velvet cape, extending well below the waistline, which makes an excellent evening wrap. This cape ties with two velvet ends that are looped into a soft knot.

A charming frock to end up the summer is this flowered chiffon affair by Worth with rose-colored design, distinguished by a low decolletage which meets a soft rose velvet girdle. Matching velvet flowers adorn the decolletage. At right is a blue and white print by Lanvin, topped by a short blue velvet cape and set off by a beret-like hat in the same material.

A minute hat, almost a beret, comes in the same blue velvet. This ensemble is lovely enough to grace any formal gathering, but it is simple enough to get by informally, too. It is easy to pack for traveling. The fact that it will be at ease anywhere makes it welcome to a place in almost anybody's wardrobe trunk or week-end bag.

Palo Duro Adds New Names To Guest Book

Recent visitors to the Palo Duro Park have added another state and a territory to the list of places represented by visitors who have registered at the park since it was opened more than a year ago.

Lloyd Bachman of Cheyenne, Wyoming, was the first person to register from that state. The name of Edward Earle Armstrong of Honolulu, Hawaii, was the first person from a territory of the United States to visit the park.

Only four of the 48 states have not been represented by visitors at the Palo Duro Park. People from the following countries have registered: India, Canada, Scotland, Germany, Mexico, Belgium, Sweden, Venezuela, and England.

GOOD NEWS

A Congressional investigation of government competition with private business has received the approval of the House Rules Committee. Representative Shannon, of Missouri, who introduced the bill, says: "There exists an immediate necessity for the curtailment of the tendency of government to engage in business in competition with private enterprise and for the withdrawal of government from many fields of which such competition already exists."

One of the most extensively practiced and one which harms the greatest number of small business people is the practice of printing individual return cards on government stamped envelopes at a figure with which local printers cannot successfully compete.

The practice smacks of class legislation as it takes legitimate work from struggling printers in every city, town and hamlet who are trying to make enough money to live on and pay taxes on their plants. Much of these same taxes go to pay the cost of keeping up the government printing office and its hundreds of employees in order that they may compete with the printers in this business practice.

May the time soon come that we can have less government in business and more business judgement and fairness in government.

Just to bring our scriptures up to date, the rain falls on the just and the unjust and the just-pushed automobile.

English Students Hear Lectures on Noted Characters

Dr. F. M. Darnall was the speaker Wednesday on the lecture program which has been arranged by the English department for the summer session. Dr. Darnall's subject was "Arnold Bennett."

The remainder of the series has been planned with Edith Wharton as Miss Mattie Swayne's subject on August 5. Mrs. Green will discuss Wilma Cather on August 9. On August 12 Dr. Darnall will lecture on Dreiser. August 15, Mrs. T. V. Reeves will discuss Ellen Glasgow. The series will be closed August 19 with a discussion of Sinclair Lewis by Dr. Darnall.

These lectures are given at 9:30 each Tuesday and Friday in room 118 of the main building. They are open to the public and a number of townspeople have been attending the lectures.

CANNING HINTS

(Editor's Note—These recipes for canning are given by Miss Sadie Kate Bass, home demonstration agent for Randall County, and are especially seasonable for use at this time of the year. It is suggested that they be clipped and placed in your recipe cabinet for reference now and in the future.)

Sauer Kraut

Sauer kraut is the clean, sound product of characteristic flavor, obtained by the full fermentation, chiefly lactic, of properly prepared and shredded cabbage in the presence of not less than 2 per cent nor more than 3 per cent salt. It contains upon completion of the fermentation, not less than 1.5 per cent of acid, expressed as lactic acid.

Select only mature, sound heads of cabbage. Remove outside leaves and wash, in a spray if possible. Drain well, core and shred. Use two and one-half pounds of salt to each one hundred pounds of shredded cabbage or two ounces salt to each 5 lbs. of cabbage. Kraut should be fermented in earthenware jars or wooden kegs or barrels. Put in a three-inch layer of shredded cabbage and sprinkle with 4 or 5 tablespoonsful of salt. The salt should be evenly distributed throughout the shredded cabbage. If desired it may be mixed well together before packing. When large quantities are made the proportioning of salt to cabbage is best done by weight before packing. The distribution of two ounces of salt with every five pounds of cabbage, probably is the best way to obtain an even distribution. Continue to repeat the process. Press firmly but not too tightly until the keg is full. Cover with a board which fits down inside the keg and place a heavy weight that will keep the cover level. The salt soon extracts a considerable amount of juice from the cabbage and this brine should rise above the surface of the board. Do not use lime or sandstone weights for the acid produced by fermentation attacks the lime and destroys the keeping quality of the brine. It is necessary that the cabbage be entirely covered with the brine at all times. Remove from time to time any scum that may form on the surface.

When fermentation is completed it is then ready for use or canning. Canning is by far the best way to keep it. It may be packed in laquer lined cans or glass jars, covered with strained kraut juice. Heat the filled cans in a hot water bath for about 25 minutes at 212 degrees F. or in pressure cooker for 7 minutes at 230 degrees F.

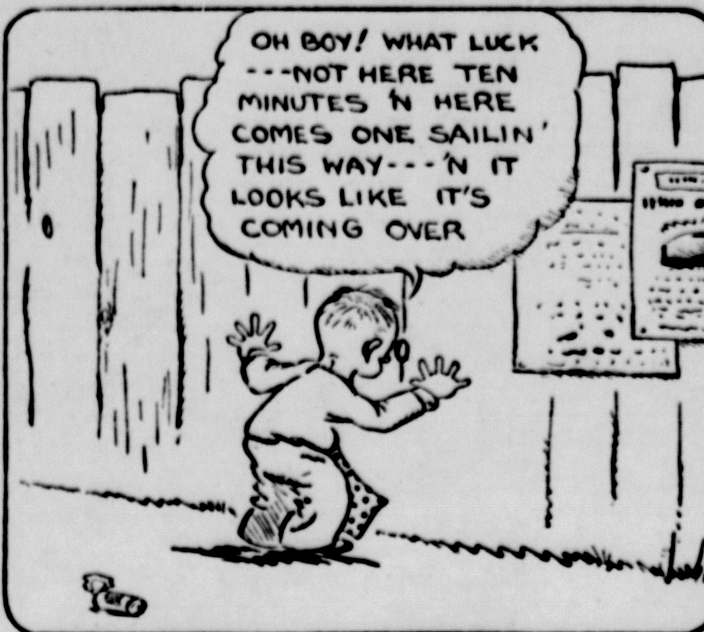

Kraut Juice

Kraut juice is the juice of the kraut as it stands in the vat after the kraut has been packed. Strain and heat to 200 degrees F. or just under the boiling point. Fill into cans and close immediately. If this procedure is followed no cooking need be given. Cool thoroughly in cold water. Failure to cool sauer kraut or kraut juice causes the acid to attack the tin, liberating hydrogen and causing a condition known as "hydrogen swell."

Vets, Police Clash in White House March

When a radical wing of the bonus army in Washington, D. C., attempted to march to the White House to demonstrate in behalf of the bonus bill, capital police succeeded in halting the parade after a flurry of fist fights and the arrest of a half dozen of the veterans' leaders two blocks from their destination. Two of the veterans, indignant at police interference, are shown above being quelled by officers after having put up a fight.

Commencement To Be August 24; M. A. Degrees Given

Approximately seventy-five seniors will receive B. A. and B. S. degrees at the summer commencement, which was announced by Dr. R. P. Jarrett to be held on Wednesday, August 24th. At the same time it is expected that eight Master of Arts degrees will be conferred.

The exercises in August will be outstanding in the history of W. T. for two reasons. It will be the first commencement exercise to be held exclusively for summer students, and it will signalize the offering of the first graduate degrees in W. T.

A speaker for the occasion has not yet been obtained, but it is hoped that some outstanding educator will be present to deliver the address for the class.

Students Collide On Amarillo Road Friday Evening

An accident occurred Friday night about nine o'clock when a car occupied by Reeves Donnell, Landon Donnell, Miss Jo Ann Barnett and Miss Zonelle Brooks collided with one driven by Charles Ferguson and Miss Mary Alice Weaver.

Ferguson had started to turn around just past Wragge's bridge when the open car driven by Reeves Donnell struck him.

Zonelle Brooks received several deep cuts about the shoulders and back, and Landon Donnell's hand was badly lacerated. Jo Ann Barnett was severely bruised and Charles received a cut on the head. The Donnell party had started to Amarillo when the accident occurred. Their car was completely demolished and Charles' car was badly damaged.

A movement which will prove to be of direct benefit to all of West Texas is the tax reduction program which is being sponsored by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce under the direction of President Wilbur C. Hawk.

This movement has attracted not only state-wide attention, but also nation-wide attention. This one program alone if carried thru according to plans during the coming months will repay West Texans for the existence of that organization.

This tax-reduction program is not one of radical tax slashing but is a conservative, constructive work being done in an orderly, systematic manner. President Hawk is due as much credit as any other person in West Texas for this part of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce program.

Another organization which is making an active and thorough study of the tax situation, both local and national is the United States Chamber of Commerce.

Nation's Business, published by the United States Chamber, points out that the United States Government has set up shop in about 250 separate lines of business, including a variety ranging from the printing and selling of stamped envelopes, to cordials labeled rum, scotch, rye and gin. Directions on the cordial bottles explain that if the cordial is mixed with alcohol the result will be the required flavor as well as color. Investigation shows that one government agency is selling shoes made in England. Recently the Government started a laundry in Washington. Nation's Business has a notion that the Government's activity in private business reflects the depression to a considerable degree.

All business men should plan to have their salesmen and salesladies take advantage of the Merchant's Institute which is being planned for October 13-14. This institute to be sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, will be held in co-operation with the Dallas Chamber of Commerce and the Dallas Wholesalers Association. Discussion of salesmanship, display, window decorating and advertising will be some of the points in merchandising which will be featured by the lecturer, H. W. Stanley.

The Palo Duro Canyon has received more publicity during the past two and one-half months than any like period of time during recent years.

We are publishing this poem on the Canyon written by Nora Hefley Mahon of Eastland, Texas, and which has been dedicated to the Chamber of Commerce:

PALO DURO CANYON
(To Canyon Chamber of Commerce)

Dawn
Dawn stirred beneath the night's soft coverlet,
Awoke, and bathed herself in sparkling dew;
Then fragrant as a rose, began to stroll
Along the canyon's trail and caught a view
Of tiny birds, astir within their nests
That frescoed painted walls o'erhung with blue.

Morning
She saw the busy Sun begin to make
His lovely filigree of golden lace,
And watched the spangled water leap the rocks
And run away with laughter on its face,
While Morning made inspection of her frocks
And chose the one that matched her winsome grace.

Noon
The weary Sun God, craving rest, saw Noon,
And caught the dazzling maiden to his breast—
He wooed her underneath the shady trees
And taught her how to follow Love's behest—
She nestled with contentment, in his arms,
And never thought to question were it best.

Night
He left her dreamy-eyed and went his way
And worked his magic until Dusk had neared
With pale mauve veils, to shroud the dying Day.
The canyon rested—jeweled night appeared.
When sunset-rose had burned to ashen gray,
A low-swung starlight all the scene endeared.

—Nora Hefley Mahon.

Uncle Sam in Business Brings Shannon Quiz, Chicago Grain Squabble

TWC recent developments in the national news—the Shannon investigation and the tilt between the federal government and the Chicago Board of Trade—have focused public attention on the scope of Uncle Sam's activities in the business world, and the extent of his competition with private enterprise.

That Uncle Sam, as merchant and manufacturer, is in competition with 94 branches of American industry and private investment, has been testified to by witnesses before a committee of congressmen headed by Representative Joseph B. Shannon of Kansas. Here are some of the things which, it was revealed, the government has been doing:

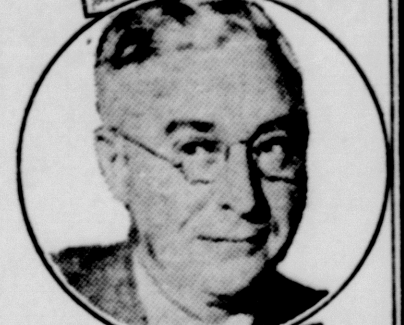

Running movie theaters at 39 army posts; banking almost $2,000,000 in one year in postal savings in competition with private bankers; competing with private industry in the manufacture of metal furniture, shoes, paint, ice, canvas bags, clothing, brushes and brooms, and selling a wide variety of standard articles through government canteens.

Even private physicians, it was claimed, have been hit by federal competition—through the government's medical bulletin service.

WHEN the Chicago Board of Trade was ordered to suspend operations for 60 days, long-standing friction between the board, representing private business, and the Farmers' National Grain Corporation, the largest federal farm board subsidiary, came to a climax. The action which brought the suspension order was the Chicago board's refusal to grant the Farmers' Corporation clearing house privileges.

It was the board's contention that complete facts regarding the corporation's solvency must be made known and considered by them before the privileges could be granted. And the Farmers' National Grain Corporation refused to disclose its financial records, creating an impasse that has made it necessary for the Board of Trade to appeal to the federal courts, to keep from being forced to close its doors.

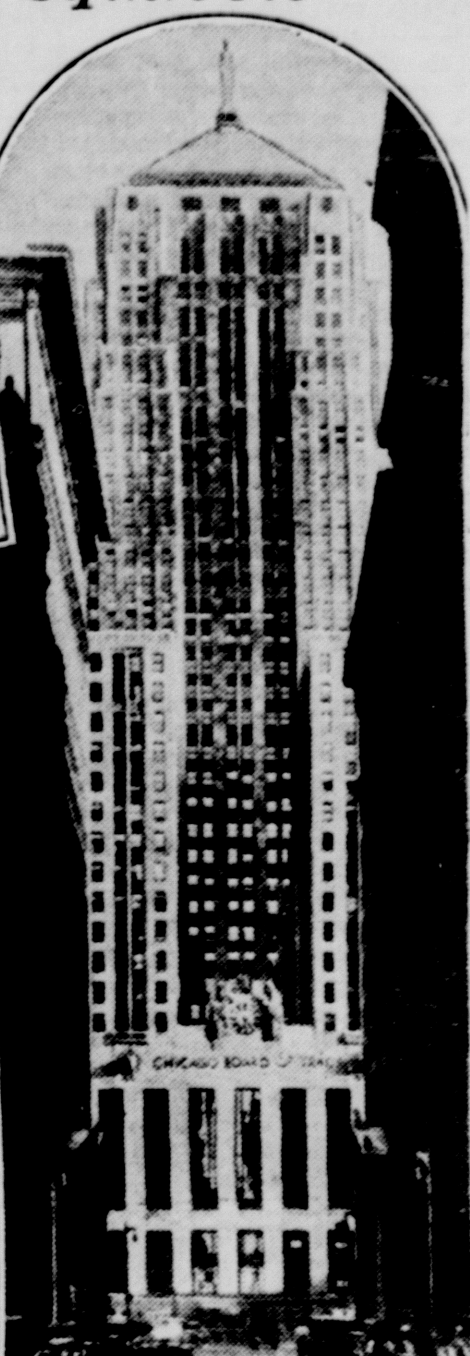

When the Farmers' National Grain Corporation holds its annual stockholders' meeting in Chicago on Aug. 16, it is expected to make public reports of its holdings. Among those reports will be those of its officers showing that on July 11 it owned or leased terminal facilities for over 53 million bushels of grain. The Head of the committee which is seeking to disclose the U. S. government's activities in the business world is Representative Joseph B. Shannon of Kansas, left above. Just below him is President Peter B. Carey of the Chicago Board of Trade, which has appealed the order of the grain futures commission to close its doors for 60 days. The Rev. Clarence E. Huff, president of the Farmers' National Grain Corporation, is shown at bottom. At right is the Chicago Board of Trade Building.

At this meeting, likewise, election of officers of the corporation will take place. The Rev. Clarence E. Huff, president of the cor-

Regents

Members of the Board of Directors which will meet with the Regents are T. D. Hobart, Pampa; H. E. Hoover, Canadian; A. J. Fires, Childress; H. M. Russell and Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Coble, Amarillo; H. D. Hamlin, Farwell and W. H. Patrick of Clarendon.

A feature of the luncheon program will be Professor L. F. Sheffy's report on the Historical Society and particularly the building project.

Following this session the Board of Regents will hear reports from the administrative officers and others of the college faculty.

The day will close with a drive which will include the Methodist and Baptist Encampment grounds and the Palo Duro Park. Representatives of a large number of Panhandle towns have been invited to meet the visitors at a barbecue supper at the Palo Duro Park. Members of the faculty and their families have been invited to this affair and are defraying a large part of the expense of it.

Business Session Tuesday
Tuesday will be devoted to the consideration of problems of all the colleges represented. The visitors will be guests of the Canyon Rotary Club on this day and the business session will continue during the afternoon. Most of the visitors will find it necessary to leave Canyon Tuesday.

In commenting on the coming of the Regents, President Hill said, "I am very anxious for the Regents to get a good impression of the college and town. I want them to meet as many of the townspeople and members of the faculty as they can. None of them has ever spent much time in Canyon and four of them have never been on the campus of this college. After this meeting, we want every one of them to feel that he knows something of northwest Texas and its people and problems."

Pampa Chamber Assists in Work For the Museum

The Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce has been highly praised by Professor L. F. Sheffy, secretary of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society for its lively interest in the Historical Society and its work.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce recently appointed a committee consisting of L. O. Johnston, Phillip Pond, Olin Hinkle and Clyde Gold to work with the Historical Society on matters of mutual interest.

Through this committee the Junior Chamber of Commerce has pledged its support to the Panhandle organization and its members and to visit the museum from time to time and help the officers of the Historical Society in securing valuable materials.

The Panhandle-Plains Historical Society is endeavoring to build up an organization which will assist in the cultural development of the entire region. Its present project is the erection of the museum building in which to house its collections.

Mr. T. D. Hobart has been president of the Society for seven years.

Ten counties will send their teachers to this institute. The committee chose speakers as follows: President J. A. Hill, Senator C. C. Small, Congressman Marvin Jones, Josh Lee of Oklahoma City, Dr. A. W. Evans of Tech.

The executive committee consists of Supt. C. H. Dillehaw of Hereford, Judge S. B. Mathews of Armstrong County, Supt. I. H. Turney of Claude, Supt. W. A. McIntosh of Amarillo, and Supt. Irby Carruth of Canyon.

The registration fee for the teachers has been reduced from $1.50 to one dollar.

REV. JAMESON RETURNS FROM DIMMITT REVIVAL

Rev. C. E. Jameson returned Monday from Dimmitt where he has been assisting Rev. R. A. Thomas, pastor of the First Methodist church there, in a revival meeting during the past week.

Rev. Jameson reports that the meeting which closed Sunday evening was highly successful in all departments.

Mrs. Jameson and son, Jamie, visited in Dimmitt over the week end, returning with Rev. Jameson Monday.

LEGISLATOR HERE.

State Representative Joseph McGill of El Paso with his family passed through Canyon Friday enroute to Delaware to visit his brother. Mr. McGill was elected County Judge of El Paso county in the primary by a large vote. He expects to see the legislature called in a special session next month in order to pass the much needed legislation to consolidate departments with a view of reducing state expenses. He believes this is a wise move, rather than await the next session of the legislature, which will be composed of so many new members.

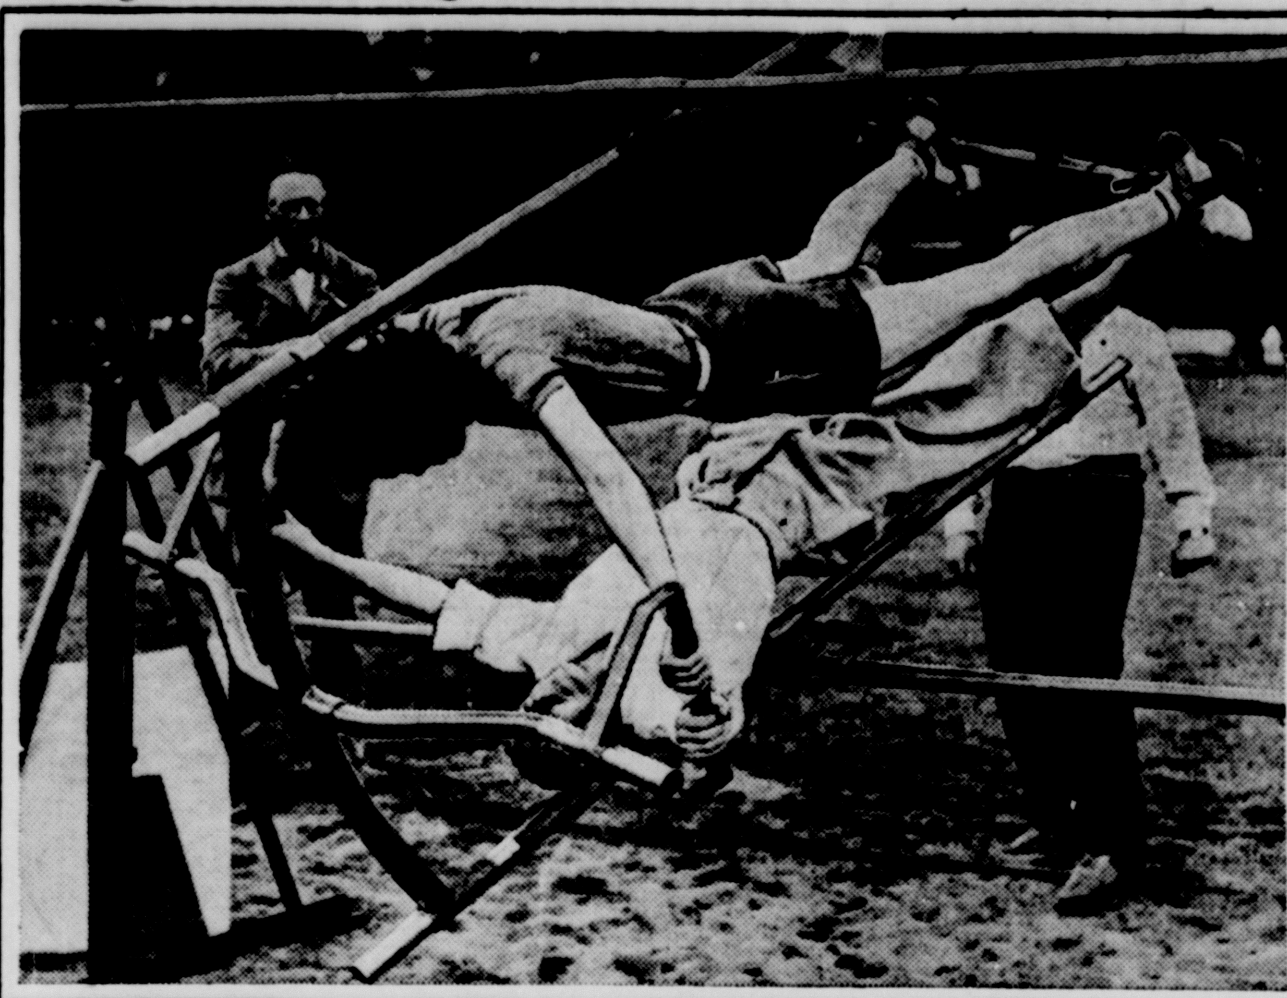

MISS BASS RETURNS

Miss Sadie Kate Bass, Randall County Home Demonstration Agent, returned Sunday from the Farmers' Annual Short Course which was held at A. & M. College Station, last week. She reports that a number of valuable pointers for home demonstration work were given in the course.

Miss Bass moved Monday into the private offices which have been constructed for her on the southwest corner of the first floor of the courthouse. Partitions have been built arranging a meeting room for the council women and a private office for the agent.

A Reducing Frame for Buxom Frames

This device enables you to take the weight off your feet, and at the same time to take off weight. By revolving in several ways at once, and throwing tension on different muscles of the body, this new gymnastic frame is said to be excellent for reducing purposes. It is shown being demonstrated at the Summer Fete given at the Duke of York's headquarters, Chelsea, London.

Buffalo Mascot Escapes From College Barn

Not since the time of the Indian massacre of '96 when the Comanches came down the canyon on the warpath has there been so much excitement as when Charles C., the buffalo bull escaped for a second time last Friday. The buffalo was chased by automobiles for about ten miles and then roped and tied to the back of the college truck. In his trip, Charles C. ran through several heavy barbed wire fences and was "slightly scratched."

He was finally subdued, however, and is back in his pen where curious visitors may still look at him and say, "Gee, what if he should get out?"

The college mascots have an interesting history. Early in 1922 an agitation was started for a college mascot for the athletic activities and Mr. Shaw suggested the buffalo. Out of a number of suggested animals, such as the coyote, screech owl, prairie dog, and others, the buffalo was selected.

In the fall of 1922, L. F. Sheffy and Travis Shaw made a trip to Colonel Goodnight's ranch to purchase a buffalo to be the mascot of W. T.

When Mr. Sheffy and Mr. Shaw arrived at the Goodnight ranch, Col. Goodnight was busy branding calves and naturally not in too good a temper. Mr. Sheffy introduced himself and Mr. Shaw and gave their respective positions in the college. The old Colonel said "I don't give a d - n who you are or where you are from. What do you want?"

When he discovered that their mission was strictly serious, he became more friendly and businesslike.

Two yearling calves, a male and female, were bought at a cost of $200 each.

Both the buffaloes, Charles C. and Mary Ann, when two years old, escaped and roamed the country round for several days. Two cowboys were hired to recover them.

Recently Mary Ann died after having given birth to two calves, a male and a female. The female died several months ago, leaving old Charles C. and the young bull.

Dr. Hill Appoints C. H. Thurman as English Professor

President J. A. Hill announces the appointment of C. H. Thurman as Assistant Professor of English for the coming year. He is taking the place of Miss Margaret Wiley who is on a leave of absence to work on her Doctor's degree at the University of Virginia.

Mr. Thurman is now doing graduate work at the Southern Methodist University at Dallas. He received his B. A. degree from North West Texas State Teachers College at Denton and his M. A. degree from S. M. U. at Dallas. One of his recent publications is the "Chronicles of Elder Horn."

For a number of years he has taught in the public schools of Texas having recently been superintendent of schools at Trinidad. He taught one summer at North West Texas State Teachers College at Denton.

Mr. and Mrs. Thurman will arrive in Canyon before the opening of the fall term.

Trouble with setting a thief to hunt a thief is that you have to hunt both of them.

College Band Has Unusual Number For Summer Term

"The band is doing excellent work, has a reasonably full instrumentation," said Mr. C. E. Strain, director of the college band. Many are interested in band work as a result of the emphasis being placed upon it in the high schools.

There are about thirty members in the band, half of whom were former members. Some are here who have been out teaching, some from the University. There are several who are doing practice teaching. "We are fortunate in having these old members back, since they make for an unusually strong band, a band above the average in quality and number. If I could keep this bunch together that I have now, we'd have a real band," was the band director's comment. "Fifteen members are beginners," he added.

In answering the curious query, "what is the band playing?" Mr. Strain said that they are playing a good grade of music—standard marches and the lighter overtures.

The band will give a concert on the square this summer, although the date has not been set. They will also play again at W. T.'s Playnight, coming August 12.
